Practice area

The automotive industry is constantly evolving, and industry actors must consider both optimisation of distribution and financing methods as well as sustainable development to ensure business robustness.

SUB AREAS

Specialised advice

The automotive industry is a cornerstone of the global economy and is driven by technological innovation as well as changing consumer preferences, and the rise of electric and alternative energy sources has meant that the industry has had to change and adjust its focus.

It is essential to keep on top of everything from financing structures, dealer and distribution networks to compliance with safety and environmental standards to navigate the legal and strategic challenges of this industry.

Legal expertise and experience not only help ensure compliance with the complex regulation, but can also be a crucial part of promoting innovation and sustainability for companies in the industry.
